

Roswell and other Alien Stories

Have you ever wondered if aliens have come to earth? Well I'm going to tell you one of history's most famous alien stories that happened on a little farm in Roswell, New Mexico. First thing I'm going to tell you is the story, and then you will learn about other alien stories. Then getting back to the story you will learn about the things that could have crashed. Government cover stories are next, then facts from both sides of the story. Then I will let you be the judge if aliens really came to earth or not. So before I get abducted let me tell you the story of Roswell.

It all happened on a little farm in Roswell, New Mexico. It was the year 1947 and Mac Brazil, a farmer was checking on his sheep and saw some wreckage of something he had never seen before. All he knew is that his sheep wouldn't go through it and had to be led around it. The next Mac brought the wreckage he found to the local sheriff coincidentally, as Mac was doing this, the radio station called to ask the sheriff if he had any new stories to share. The sheriff said he didn't but he had someone there who did. So Mac told the radio station what he found. The military got wind of the story soon after that and instantly sent a major out to look at the wreckage. They tried to cut it but could not even dent it. The major said it looks like wreckage from an alien saucer. The next day several higher ranked military officials took Mac away to a military holding for a week. Mac, not having two nickels to rub together, came home a week later changed his story and moved away. He then bought a new truck and started his own business. Can you guess what the military made him say? They paid him to change his story a whether balloon, when there was no rubber anywhere to be found. Now on to other alien stories.

Now you are learning about other alien stories, the first one is mutilated cow, and then I'm going to tell about aliens over Washington. With the mutilated cow stories the farmers wake up one morning to find a dead cow that was healthy the day before. When the farmer checks the cow out there is no blood, there are surgical cuts on it, organs are missing and the ear is missing. Also the other cows would not go near it. And some times the farmer sees a bright light in the middle of the night with a cow in it.

Now for aliens reported over Washington State. One day a pilot saw saucers flying over Washington in a "V" formation, the pilot said they looked like stones skipping over water. There are no more accounts of saucers over Washington so no one knows if this is real or not. Now let's get back to farmer Mac Brazil. The military came up with a few different cover stories for the material that Mac Brazil had found. The first is a weather balloon. People believed the government a lot more than a farmer from a small town in New, Mexico, and bought the idea. Then in the early 1990's the military said it was project M.O.U.G.L.E, a top secrete project, which had been started a year before, to detect nuclear waves from the Soviet Union during the cold war. Project M.O.U.G.L could have been launched from a military base, not to far from Roswell.

Then they also said that what he found was a German saucer. World War 2 had just ended and the United States captured German scientist and the Germans were supposedly working on a flying disc.

The next possibility is that it truly was an alien saucer. This could be possible because the night before there was a storm. Next, the material could not be cut. And then the sheep would not go through it.

Let's look closer at all three possibilities because I want you to figure out for yourself what you believe. The facts that could make people believe it was an alien saucer. The first fact is there was a lightning storm the night before. The saucer could have been struck by lightning. The second fact is the sheep would not go through the wreckage, and had to be led around it, which might indicate that it had some kind of force field around it. The third is that the material from the wreckage could not be cut or damaged by our average tools. We know that everything on this earth can at least be scratched. The fourth is that a major from the base said himself that it was a U.F.O. The weird thing is that the same major went on to become highly ranked in the military. Seems pretty suspicious for a guy who can't tell a government secrete project, from an alien saucer. The fifth thing is that Mac was taken into custody and paid off to change his story and be quiet. The sixth thing is that it would have caused public alarm so the Soviet Union could attack.

In this report you have learned about the Roswell, New Mexico story. You have learned other alien stories, the things that could have crashed along with government cover stories. Now you decide if what happened in Roswell, New Mexico is real or just a big hoax. 😊
